

The Stinemetz Girl Suggests

LET our "Stinemetz Girl" tell you some interesting facts about the fur business.

Last week several of her friends were in the store, and as she exhibited the set which you see her wearing here she gave them a right good idea of our method of securing advance styles, of how and where we buy our skins, and of our facilities for making them up.

Suppose we repeat her words, as she said:

"Girls, fur garments last so many seasons that unless we were a year or two ahead of the styles shown in the majority of stores our furs would be out of date long before they were worn out.

"You never think of Worth and Paquin and the other famous Paris costumers as creating the styles in furs; but the fur garments which they design to match their costumes are secured by leading New York manufacturers as models. From them we at once get these original models or exact copies. This season we have the originals.

"For skins our representatives go into the European markets and bid side by side with the best-known furriers of the world. We buy at the same prices paid by them.

"Our workrooms here are equipped to make these skins up as perfectly and at as low cost as any manufacturer in the country. We sell them to you at a saving of the profit that must be added by the dealer who buys his garments from the wholesaler."

Next week we'll let her tell you some more facts.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

MISS TAFT HAS A GIRL FRIEND FROM HERE AS GUEST.

Wedding Parties and Other Social Notes.

Miss Helen Taft is entertaining Miss Martha Bowers, daughter of the late Solicitor General Lloyd-Bowers, at Beverly, Mass., during the absence of the President and Mrs. Taft on their automobile journey. Miss Bowers was with Miss Taft on the recent western trip.

Among those who arrived from Europe yesterday on board the Kronprinz Wilhelm was Mr. Constantine Brun, who has just resigned his place as Danish minister to the court of St. James, in order to resume his former post as representative of his country in Washington, where he spent so many years as envoy. As the smaller salary than that in London, he has made a considerable pecuniary sacrifice for the sake of returning to America, says an exchange, but if any part of the utterances attributed to Mr. Brun before he sailed from England are true, and all of which are very cordially reciprocated, the personal satisfaction he is receiving by his return to this capital will more than compensate him.

Col. and Mrs. Robert M. Thompson, who will arrive at the St. Regis, in New York, today, will give a dinner tonight for some of the naval officers of the visiting fleet.

Rev. Dr. Ward Denys and family returned yesterday to New York from Europe.

The engagement is announced of Marie Madeleine du Mas, daughter of the Comte Gaston du Mas, and Mr. Owen Franklin Aldis of Washington in Virginia, according to a special cablegram from the New York Herald today. Mr. Aldis' Washington home is at 1347 Connecticut avenue.

ESCORTEE BY FRIENDS.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan Made Home-Going in Sightseeing Auto.

"Jerry is the guy that put the honey in the honeymoon," was placarded on a sightseeing automobile used last night to convey Policeman Jeremiah A. Sullivan and his bride from the home of the bride's parents, 3227 Georgia avenue northwest.

Miss Mary H. Pavionish and Mr. Sullivan were married by Rev. James P. McGee, who was assisted by Rev. Eugene A. Hamman. The church was crowded with friends of the contracting parties.

When the ceremony was over the couple found themselves without a car—place in which to return to the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding supper was to be held. They were fairly lifted into the big automobile from which streamers floated and in which was a colored band.

Instead of taking the direct route to the Georgia avenue house the sightseeing car went south on 14th street and turned at Florida avenue in order that it would pass the house of the groom in Bloomingdale. Many carriages followed the car.

About twelve squares from the home of the Pavionishs the automobile broke down. The bride and groom then were permitted to enter a carriage, and were driven to the home of Mrs. Sullivan's parents, the band marching at the head of the procession.

Scores of friends were at the house to shower congratulations, and later the couple went away on a trip to Atlantic City.
